In the spacious new National Research Building at Ottawa, the Royal Society of Canada recently held its 50th anniversary meeting.

Founded upon similar lines to the Royal Society of London, the Canadian society in fifty years of existence has achieved much. As such organizations go, it is one of the oldest, and one of the most distinguished founded in Canada. Through its parent society at London, it may claim to be the oldest society for the advancement of science in Britain, one of the oldest societies in the Royal Society dates back to 1660, founded prior to the execution of Charles I.

The Marquis of Lorne, in 1882, when Governor-General of Canada founded a Royal Society in Canada, and the Royal Society of Canada, may well view with pride its record of achievement. The society was instrumental in founding the Dominion archives, the National Gallery, the National Library, the ethnological, geological, and mineralogical collections. And last, but not least, the society was in the forefront of the drive for the National Research Council which will shortly be housed in a fully equipped building at Ottawa—built with money voted in the last years of the King's administration.

Briefly, the Royal Society is an association of the foremost chemists, mathematicians, geologists, biologists and other scientists as well as the leading literary men of Canada. Its purpose is to stimulate scientific advancement, to encourage literature, to give national recognition to those whose work merits it, to hear papers from its members and, when desired, to publish them in permanent form. The Canadian Society numbers about 320 members.

The society is divided into five sections. There are French and English sections, concerned with history, literature, economics and law. A third section covers the chemical, physical and mathematical sciences. A fourth deals with the geological sciences, and a fifth with the biological sciences. Membership runs to between 40 and 50 in each section, and the largest section is the first, the second to 50. The other three sections elect three new fellows—nine in all—each year. The society elected four new officers, as do each of the five sections. One of the most interesting officers this year is Sir Robert Falconer, retiring president of Toronto university. The secretary is Fred Burpee, secretary of the International Joint Commission. Dr. G. A. Young, of the Geological Survey. The society is supported by fees of members, but parliament votes a small grant each year to defray cost of publishing the meritorious papers.

The fellows of the royal society in the three prairie provinces are:

Judge L. A. Pritchard, St. Boniface; Dr. W. H. M. Scott, University of Saskatchewan; Dr. E. H. Oliver, head of the United Church Theological College; Professor Frank Allen, of Manitoba University; J. W. Dales, editor of the Free Press; Dr. R. J. Lang, of Alberta University; Professor R. K. McClung, of Manitoba University; Professor M. A. Parker, of Manitoba University; Professor W. Shipley, of Alberta University; Dr. J. S. Salter, of Alberta University; Professor T. Thorvalson, of Saskatchewan University; Professor N. R. Wilson, of Manitoba University; Professor J. A. Allan, of Alberta University; Professor Justice Dr. R. C. Walker, president of Alberta University; Professor William Boyd, of Manitoba University; Professor A. H. R. Buller, of Manitoba University; Professor T. Cameron of Manitoba University; Professor Francis J. Lewis, of Alberta University; Professor Robert Newlin, of Alberta University; and Professor W. P. Thompson, of Saskatchewan University.

A Museum Of Sound

German Professor Collecting Records By Voice Of Nature

The modern world has been so busy enjoying the entertainment afforded by such scientific toys as the talkie and the gramophone, that it has perhaps not yet properly appreciated the value of the natural sounds of life. Now, however, a "museum of sound" is to be opened in Berlin.

For the past twenty years, the organizer of this museum, Professor Oskar Dögen, has been collecting records of the voices of famous persons of all countries. Other British representatives include Mr. Ramsay Macdonald and Miss Pankhurst, while the founder, German Kaiser, is among those recently represented.

Much of Professor Dögen's material was collected during the War, when he visited the prison camps collecting records of foreign languages and dialects as well.

"Not as much as they should. I have observed all too many instances since my arrival here where the woman takes for granted things her sisters in other countries would not even dream of."

"How do Canadian women measure up with their sisters in other particulars?" "Well, they're better dressed, for one thing. Your business women, particularly. How well groomed their hands and feet are! It is the little things like that count."

"The way you Canadians make friendships appeals to me so much." Lady Wren said. "I wish I could make more of them, but I have no time. And in Canada you seem so eager to help each other. I may yet come to live here."

Irish Author Amazed At Greatness Of Canada's Women Recruit

"Canadian women are far more well treated by their men. They are pampered and spoiled. They would be better off if their husbands and sweethearts paid them less attention." This is the verdict of Lady Rena Terrington, a famous English actress, who has milk and roses complexion and auburn hair of the true daughter of Ireland, in the course of a tour across Canada gathering material for a book on the Dominion.

Lady Terrington, a widow, William Shepard-Swinyay, and a Fleet Street journalist for five years before leaving newspaper work for magazine and publisher assignments, Lady Terrington has an opinion of Canadian women in general.

"It's amazing how well your men treat your women," she exclaimed with a smile. "Much too well, really. It's too bad for us, we don't like them!"

Guide For Public Speakers

Variety Of Places Where Hands Can Be Parked

"I have checked up almost 57 varieties of places for a public speaker to stand on his hands," writes Dr. John F. Cowan, in his book, "How To Stand On Your Head." The book also includes a coat vest; upper pockets, lower rear; hooked in vent armholes; clasped across tummy; ditto back; wadding handkerchief; and unwadding; clenching laps of coat; pounding desk; bristling hands; a padded desk; at stumps; full-arm gesture; halting finger; pointing; twisting thumbs; finger-tips together uplifted; fumbling paper; pulling down vest; snapping; and when not otherwise emphasising the truth, sawing imaginary wood in the air."

In 1931 Canada exported 2,589,269 pounds of honey. The principal purchaser was the United Kingdom, with the Netherlands second and Germany third.

Using Stainless Steel

Dome Of Church At Jerusalem Has Five Gables

Building swords into ploughshares has an apt application to Sheffield.

Sheffield during the war was one of the greatest arsenals ever organized in Britain. Now one of the great steel firms is constructing five gables for the dome of the Church of the Sepulchre at Jerusalem.

From time to time during the last eight centuries the church has been shaken by earthquakes and has suffered from the collapse of its dome.

In any building the dome form here is always an inherent weakness at the base. When Christopher Wren built St. Paul's he thought he had solved the problem by binding the base of the dome with chains of iron. The device served for 200 years but iron is not only perishable but destroys the surrounding stonework.

Now the dome of St. Paul's has been encircled with a massive stainless steel which the smiths in the days of the Stuarts knew nothing of.

It is curious to recall the great number of sun spots which occurred during the war years. This was the custom of the sun, it was the custom of the sun to go down to a minimum in about 9 to 14 years with an average duration for a cycle of a little over 11 years.

The extent of the maximum also varies from cycle to cycle. These sunspots are numbered and groups of spots. From the monthly numbers a yearly average results. These yearly numbers increase from a minimum of 10 to a maximum of 150 down to a minimum in about 9 to 14 years with an average duration for a cycle of a little over 11 years.

The extent of the maximum also varies from cycle to cycle. The cause of the variation is not known, but it is known that the growth of the sunspot area is regular.

"In order that the Port of Churchill may develop under the most favorable auspices it is necessary that the general public should realize some of the general principles encountered in the study of sunspots," says Dr. Ramsay. "It is desirable that the growth of the sunspot area is regular.

The view that the development of the port of Churchill must be orderly in order to avoid losses which might result from too rapid development, and that responsibility for its future lies with the government, was expressed in a statement at Vancouver by E. B. Bamsey, chief commissioner of the Board of Grain Commissioners for Canada.

In order to clarify the situation in regard to the export of grain via the Hudson Bay, some statement is required concerning the present condition of the port and its establishment as one of the regular export channels for western Canadian grain may be put clearly before the public who are vitally interested in the future channel of trade," said Mr. Bamsey.

Cellophane.

Notwithstanding the present state of financial and economic uncertainty prevailing throughout the world, resulting as it does in huge business losses, unemployment, and much suffering, which, in turn, leads to general disengagement, the fact remains that the world continues to progress, and when we overcome our present difficulties, and proceed to profit by the lessons of this experience through which we are now passing, the world will be a better place to live in.

The work of the scientists proceeds apace, important discoveries which will have a far-reaching effect throughout the years to come are being made; new inventions are developed, and brought to a high state of efficiency, all of which will add to the sum total of human comfort, convenience and prosperity in future years.

Canada enjoys no forest wealth. It is one in which Canada should be especially interested, and from which it can profit greatly.

Canada enjoys no forest wealth. It is one of the richest countries in the world in this respect. For many years the forests of Canada were looked upon as yielding wealth in only one form, namely, lumber. And even in this crude form billions of wealth were produced. Later the value of our forest as a source of supply for the making of pulp, out of which paper is manufactured, was discovered. Now we have great rivers, lakes and waterfalls adjacent to many of our great forest areas. Canada, in a few short years became one of the largest manufacturers of newspaper paper in the world, and is today the largest exporter of that everyday article of use.

Scientific men kept at working, and now the great trees of Canada not only supply us with lumber, and the common article of the forest, paper, which in both instances is dust proof, candles, soaps, ranges, bladders, articles of clothing, fruits and spices, in a word, almost everything where it is vitally important that the article should be kept clean, fresh and sanitary, comes to you wrapped in this substance, called cellophane.

And when it is cleaned, which happens over night comes into such general use? In the old days, when a few cellophane and rayon silk is one and the same thing, the only difference resulting from the methods of manufacture. The magazine of Canadian Industries Limited, manufacturers of both rayon and cellophane, explains, as follows:

"Basically, cellophane is the same as artificial silk differing from it only in the form it takes when it reaches the consumer stage, whereas cellophane is cast while the rayon is spun."

Not only is cellophane light in weight, sanitary in it that it is dust proof and moisture proof, but because of its transparency it shows off the goods so wrapped, and thus becomes a sales agent. Tests have demonstrated that articles and products cellophane-wrapped command a much larger sale than those not so wrapped.

Both rayon and cellophane are in the industry, but Canadian Industries Limited have such faith in it that they have just erected a million and a quarter dollar cellophane plant in the Province of Quebec. Women's hats are now made of braided, colored cellophane as a new use of the article, but what does the future hold? Will heavier, tougher grades ultimately replace glass? This may be developed so as to be used in windows, doors, etc., which will preserve records far beyond the life of ordinary paper? Who can tell, but without a doubt it will be used for many purposes at present unknown to us.

Thus does the world progress, even during times when seemingly things are slipping backward. There are always reasons for encouragement and confidence if we take the trouble to look for them. Cellophane is but an illustration, but itself it means an entirely new industry, putting to more profitable use one of Canada's great natural resources.

Mountain Pilgrimage

Yearly Pilgrimage To Shrine Of St. Patrick On West Coast Of Ireland

Perhaps the most unusual of all pilgrimages is that made annually to the mountain-top shrine of St. Patrick on the west coast, composed mostly of people which bears his name and which overlooks Clew Bay, County Mayo, on the west coast of Ireland.

Additional interest is lent to the pilgrimage this year because the ceremonies to be held on Sunday, July 8th, will be in honor of the 1500th anniversary of the arrival of St. Patrick in Ireland.

The pilgrimage is made yearly by many Canadians and Americans—so many in fact that the Connemara Line for several seasons has devoted a special sailing to take care of the pilgrimage calling at Galway, a short distance from Westport, the starting point for the grueling, rocky climb up the mountain, long known as "the way to heaven." The climb is 2,510 feet above the level of the sea.

According to tradition it was from this mountain that St. Patrick drove all the serpents from Ireland into the sea, never to return.

The pilgrimage up the side of the mountain is a Lenten penance, fasting and prayer. 1000 years ago, begins on Saturday evening, any time between six o'clock and midnight, daylight saving time.

Young people make the ascent in three hours or less, while the older people take much longer, resting frequently during the journey. Torchlights are carried by many to light the path and guide pilgrims along the way. Some even break a hymn to help make the climb easier.

For the climb up the last two miles and yards you reach the summit, where the pilgrims leave their shoes and start the journey barefooted.

Many of the more religious make the entire climb without foot protection.

St. Patrick was seventy years old when he first climbed the mountains. Now many a pilgrim of the same age makes the journey, taking a keen pride in this tradition of a part of the rigid Lenten penance of the saint.

CHAPTER XXII.

"Willing Or Unwilling!"

It was over. A bare twenty yards from the brow of the hill the man had won and now the mare was standing swaying between the shafts, shaking in her head. Her frantic heaving and the sweat streaming from her hidden coat in little rivulets.

Burke was beside her, patting her down and talking to her in a little intermittent fashion, muttering to himself.

"You're all in, aren't you, old thing?" he murmured sympathetically. Then he glanced up at Jean, who was still sitting in the car, feeling rather as though the end of the world had occurred and, in some surprising fashion, left her still cumbering the earth.

"She's pretty well run herself out," he remarked. "We shan't have any more trouble going home"—smiling briefly.

"I hope not," answered Jean a trifle faintly.

"You all right?"

"I'm not," she said, smiling again.

"Thank you. You must be an excellent whip," she added. "I thought the mare would never stop."

Probably even Jean hardly realized the bitterness of the horse's agony of which she had just given a violent example. The judgment and censure Burke had evinced in letting the mare spend the first freshness of her strength before he essayed to check her mad pace; the dexterous way with which he had somehow contrived to keep her straight; and finally, the consummate skill with which, that half-mile, he had played her mouth, rejecting the pull on the reins—the instinctive skill of the rider, —which quickly numbs sensation and neutralizes every effort to bring a runaway to a standstill.

"Yes. I rather thought our number was up," agreed Burke coolly. He was not really afraid, though. He made the mare to see if she were all right and suddenly, with a sharp exclamation, he lifted one of her feet from the ground and examined it.

"Cast a shoe and turn her foot round," he said. "I'm afraid we'll be afraid we shall have to stop at the next village and get her shoe. It's not a mile further on. You and I can have tea at the inn while she's at the blacksmith's."

With a final curse of the steaming chestnut neck, he came back to the side of the cart, reins in hand.

"Can you drive her with a torn foot?" queried Jean.

"Oh, yes. We'll have to go carefully down this hill, though. There are such a confounded lot of loose stones about."

He climbed into the dog-cart and very soon they had reached the village, the timber-hewn houses of which were turned over to the blacksmith's ministrations while Burke and Jean made their way to the inn.

Tea was brought to them upstairs in a quaint, old-fashioned parlor.

fragrant of bygone times. Oak beams black with age, supported the ceiling, and on the high chimney-piece plates, like the like, were covered with a thin and an unusually curious spotted dog, in genuine old Staffordshire, surveyed the scene with a satisfied snarl. Through the leaded diamond panes of the window was visible a glimpse of the Moore.

The result of his action was unexpected. Jean turned to the window, unshaded, and it hung open the case.

"If you don't unlock that door at once, Geoffrey," she said quietly, "I shall be in the room—this way"—with a gesture which sufficiently explained her meaning.

Her voice was very steady. Burke looked at her curiously.

"You mightn't jump out?" he asked, opening his hands.

Her eyes answered him. They were feverishly bright, with an almost fanatical light in them, and suddenly Burke realized that she was at the end of her tether. He knew that the stress of the last hour or so had taken its toll of her high-strung temperament and that she might even do what she had threatened. He had no conception of the motive behind her action, but he knew that the determination which had leaped to life within her to endure or suffer anything rather than stay locked in this room with Burke, rather than give him, the man who had held her heart between his hands, her ground for misunderstanding or misrating her now.

"It's a rammer resort for honeymooners," he answered. "Do you think?"—inquiring—"it would be a good place to spend a honeymoon?"

"I suppose," replied Jean cautiously. "If the people were fond of the country, and the Moor, and so on—yes. But they might prefer some place less remote from the world."

"It's a rammer resort for honeymooners," he answered. "Do you think?"—inquiring—"it would be a good place to spend a honeymoon?"

Suddenly Burke crossed the room to her side.

"We might as well settle that point now," he said. "Jean, when will you marry me?"

She looked at him indifferently.

"I've asked that question before. It isn't fair of you to repeat the matter here—and now."

"I've agreed," he said. "In fact, I've agreed to it. It is reasonable, a coddling thing for me to do, seeing that you can't get away from me just now. But all's fair in love and war."

"I'm sorry," he said. "I'm not contemplating a honeymoon."

"I'm afraid," she said, attempting to speak coolly, "that it means war indefinitely then, Geoffrey. I can give you no definite answer."

"It's only war till you give in—till you promise to marry me. Then—" a smouldering glow shone in his eyes. "I'll show you what love means."

New Earl of Egmont

Has Inherited All His Father's Troubles In Connection With Estate

The new Lord Egmont is a pitiable figure. He made friends with no one but his father, who died when he was hardly any longer boy in the world than this 15-year-old earl. He avoids all society, and has a terror of public life.

He will have all his father's troubles and more, for debts due must again be paid on the Egmont estates. His father was staggered to find the estates reduced in apparent value from $2,500,000 to $1,500,000, due to debts and legal settlements on two dowager countesses.

Father and son shoot rabbits and pheasants on the castle estate and sold them to neighboring villages to help meet expenses. The boy, now 15, is the only member of the family who has practically no education or experiences of the world, and who has been embittered by the cruel disappointments encountered since reaching England, is left to cope with the problems of a large though impoverished estate.

Disastrous Economy

Demand For Products Ceases When Advertisements Are Stopped

The most advertised manufactures are the ones most asked for. Stores which advertise the most are the most frequented and prosperous. Their prices are no higher than at the other stores, when they are lower for the pencils used in their advertisements to win them a bigger clientele and, as their sales are therefore far more, they are in a position to be content with a smaller profit on each sale. It was never so important to be in the advertising business as it is discouraged, and to go ahead with our business and keep money in circulation. How can we expect to succeed if we cut down on our advertising? We can't compete directly for the products of industry and commerce? This would be a false economy, an economy which would be disastrous. —Le Droit, Ottawa.

WHERE TO SPEND AN ENJOYABLE VACATION

SINCE the annual vacation has become a definite part of modern life, the decision as to where it will be spent is of considerable importance. Canada has a particular appeal to the vacationist, for it has an unusual variety of attractions, which may be enjoyed at reasonable cost.

For most people, the summer vacation is limited to a few weeks and is shortly shortened by the time used in travelling to and from the locality selected. Canada has an extensive system of good roads and excellent railway services, which greatly facilitate travel between provinces.

There is a wide and varying diversity of natural features—the rugged and picturesque Atlantic Coast; the St. Lawrence River and Great Lakes; the world's greatest inland waterfall; the Rockies; the mountains, forest or prairie, and streams; the prairies; the majestic Rockies; and the beautiful Pacific Coast. Each of these areas has its own attractions of scenic beauty and opportunities for enjoyment, relaxation, fishing, hunting, camping, canoeing, and mountain-climbing may all be enjoyed under ideal conditions, while golf and tennis may be played practically everywhere. Accommodation includes everything from camp site to luxurious hotel. Those to whom economy is a consideration will be able to spend a pleasant vacation close to nature, at surprisingly small cost.

The National Development Bureau, Department of the Interior, at Ottawa, has prepared a series of maps showing the main routes from one province to another, also a number of interesting brochures, including "Vacations in Canada," which describe the tourist attractions of each province and the facilities available for your readers planning a vacation. Applications should state the areas in which they are interested.

OF COURSE DAUGHTER WILL HAVE A GUINNESS DRESS HAVE A GUINNESS DRESS AND MOTHER HAVE TAKEN UP THIS VOGUE

This darling dress calls for the minimum of material, and as far as the making—well, you can see for yourself. It's child's play! It has a rounded square neck, has an attached pointed skirt. A French blue and gold guipure lace border on the hem and bindings was used to fashion it. The separate guipure with darling puff sleeves of the same lace border. Small daughter can indulge in numbers of guimpes, for instance a white guimpes for the bodice and a blue for the skirt. Again, it would be extremely different and very unusual with the guimpes of blue batiste striped with the deepest blue.

Refrigerated Vessels At Esquimalt

Summer Overhaul Of C.P.R. Pacific Fleet Underway In Canada

Summer overhaul of the Canadian Pacific Railway's Empress Liners which ply out of Vancouver, will be done at Esquimalt instead of at Hongkong in future. It is announced by Capt. E. Alkan, general superintendent of Canadian Pacific Steamships.

The general overhaul, which takes place every winter, will still be done in the Orient.

The liner, which will bring additional employment for British Columbia workmen, has been reached by agreement with the Dominion Government.

The government has made concessions regarding the dues and the Canadian Pacific Railways have undertaken to pay the additional costs of labor, which is nearly five times as expensive as in the Orient.

The newly-arrived liner, effective with S.S. Empress of Russia which will go into drydock on July 15, she will be followed in turn by S.S. Empress of Japan, S.S. Empress of Asia and S.S. Empress of Canada.

COCONUT SOUP

2 tablespoons butter, melted.

3 tablespoons flour.

1/2 cup sugar.

4 cups water.

3 egg yolks, well beaten.

4 egg whites, stiffly beaten.

1 can coconut, southern style, drained.

Dash of salt.

1 teaspoon vanilla.

Melt butter and flour, add sugar and milk, and cook in double boiler until thick and smooth, stirring constantly. Cool slightly and add egg yolks. Fold in egg whites, then add to greased casserole, place in pan of hot water, and bake in moderate oven (375 degrees Fahrenheit) 50 minutes, or until firm. Serve with lemon sauce. Serves 8.

JOSEPH THE WORKER

Golden Text—"Send thou a man diligent in his business; he shall stand before kings." —Proverbs 22:29.

Lesson: Genesis 39 to 41.

Devotional Reading: Luke 19:11-23.

Explanations and Comments:

Joseph's Work During the Years Of Bondage.

Joseph, the son of Jacob, at the age of seventeen, was sold as a slave when he was a lad of fifteen years of age! Sold as a slave when seventeen, he became a servant of Pharaoh, who had God to think of when he made this man; and this man was the benefactor, and, under God, the savior of the land.

Joseph was Pharaoh's vizier. What that position meant Professor Elam explains: "The supreme power of the king was absolute. Pharaoh was very active in the affairs of the government; he was accustomed to meet his vizier to consult with him on all the interests of the country and the current news with which the vizier was familiar to his eyes."

The chief treasurer, through the bodyguards, collected all taxes; he was responsible for the safety of the vizier, to whom he was responsible every morning. In the administration of justice he was most popular.

He was the motive power behind the organization. In his office he was in charge of the secretaries of all local government in all its functions."

"Take note, however, of the man, Jesus Christ, but do not let your anxiety thoughts, have such trust in God's help that you will not be over-cautious about the narrow way to life. Anxiety about the future, is unchristian; prudent planning for the present, prudent, on the other hand, is Christian."

PARLIAMENT AT OTTAWA HAS ENDED SESSION

Ottawa, Ont.—A vice-regal salute of 10 guns boomed out on Parliament Hill when the third session of Canada's 17th parliament came to an end.

Without the fuss and feathers of an opening ceremony, Lt. Gen. F. A. G. de la Poerierre, Comptroller-in-Chief, in the absence of Lord Bessborough, the Governor-General, read the speech from the throne which liberal members and senators from their official districts had prepared legislative demands were crowds.

Officers of the army and navy, resplendent in blue, crimson and gold braid, emphasized the deep red walls of the senate chamber. Prime Minister R. B. Bennett, Hon. J. H. Mackenzie, minister of justice in the Upper House, and Chief Justice Angus added a old-world touch in their gold embossed Windsor uniforms. Members of the Senate in sumptuous robes gathered at the bar of the senate in orderly disorder.

In low tones, the chief justice read the throne speech, first in English, then in French. It expressed the belief that the country would soon develop a power "which will bring enduring honour out of economic chaos," and herald a new dawn for a stricken world. Its language from beginning to end was couched in the language of the past.

The commons convened a few minutes before the time set for prorogation to listen to a statement by Hon. Charles H. Cahan, secretary of state, on war reparations.

The Commons then adjourned while the opposition approached the two hours of parliament. The state secretary was in the middle of a sentence when the king decided to have him be led writing. Mr. Cahan closed off his statement, black rod was admitted—a carefully guarded prerogative—and the commons "consented" to appear in the chamber.

Cabinet ministers in the Upper House were brief. After reading the throne speech, the chief justice and his escort of officers trooped from the chamber. The guns boomed. The three regiments of the Queen's Own Royal Canadian Guards escorted the chief justice toward the city. Members and senators bid each other adieu and dashed for taxi-cabs and trains. The session was over.

The Real Reason

Amelia Earhart Set Out to Demonstrate Capability of Women Pilots

London, England.—The real reason Mrs. Amelia Earhart flew the Atlantic alone was to stop all these naysayers who say women airplane pilots and women automobile drivers don't exist.

She herself revealed this while enjoying to the utmost an enthusiastic reception accorded by London to her as she landed at Croydon to make a solo flight across the Atlantic.

"When there is a tragic jolt on Fifth Avenue, men always comment, 'Oh, it's a woman driving.' " Mrs. Putnam said.

"And I have gone up in the air with naysayers who didn't know the controls from an ultimate, and when I came down I heard people say he did most of the flying."

"So I determined to show them that a woman can fly the Atlantic alone. I don't see that I have added anything to the scheme of aviation or anything else."

Returning To England

Lord and Lady Byng Sailed, May 26, From Montreal

Montreal, Que.—After a leisurely tour in quest of health, Lord Byng of Vimy, former governor-general of Canada, sailed May 26 on the S.S. Manitou for England. He was accompanied by Lady Byng.

Lord and Lady Byng crossed Canada in easy stages from the Pacific Coast, on the last leg of a trip which took them to the West Indies, and then through the Panama Canal on an ocean voyage. They visited the principal cities of Canada.

Heidelberg, Germany.—The Heidelberg observatory announces the discovery of a new planet, which it tentatively named "Nineteen Thirty-Two," which can attain a proximity of seven million kilometres to the earth. This is approximately 4,450,000 miles.

Fight In Prussian Diet

Political Passions Break Loose and Rough House Ensues

Berlin, Germany.—Smouldering political passions in the new Prussian diet broke out in hand-to-hand fighting between National Socialists and Communists with a violence unprecedented in the parliamentary history of Germany.

The legislative hall was wrecked and at least half a dozen members, including neutrals, were injured. The leader of the Social Democrats, who took part in the fray, was carried unconscious to a hospital with one side of his face ripped open.

With broken jaws, chair legs and broken bottles, the legislators fought their battle to the bitter end without police interference. General Karl Litzmann, senior member of Adolf Hitler's National Socialist party, having declined to resign his services of the police stepped in to stop the fight.

The trouble started after Hans Kerrl, a National Socialist, had been elected president of the diet and Ernst Wittmann, a Social Democrat, was chosen speaker. The regular session of the diet opened on Oct. 31 under the general tariff is 2 cents a pound as a minimum and the rate on strawberries from June 1 to July 30 not less than three cents a pound. The dumping duty will be in addition to these rates.

Duty Has Been Raised

New Tariff Affects Strawberries and Tomatoes From Outside Empire

Calgary, Alta.—A new protective tariff bulletin, the duty on tomatoes when entered from the United States or other countries outside the Empire shall be three cents a pound above the import price in Canadian funds. A ten cent duty is imposed on the difference between the import price and the fixed value for duty purposes, the effect will be that the dumping duty will be three cents a pound above the value of the invoice price.

The new regulations stay in effect in the case of tomatoes until October 31, and in the case of strawberries until July 31. The regular session of the diet opens on Oct. 31 under the general tariff is 2 cents a pound as a minimum and the rate on strawberries from June 1 to July 30 not less than three cents a pound. The dumping duty will be in addition to these rates.

Thousands Greet Aviatrix

DO-X Beaches Germany Safety After Trans-Atlantic Journey

Berlin, Germany.—The German flying boat, "DO-X," largest heavier-than-air craft, completed its trans-Atlantic travel with a mad spurt through storm areas over northern Europe, alighting at Mueggen Lake, on the outskirts of Berlin, without incident.

The trouble started after Hans Kerrl, a National Socialist, had been elected president of the diet and Ernst Wittmann, a Social Democrat, was chosen speaker. The regular session of the diet opens on Oct. 31 under the general tariff is 2 cents a pound as a minimum and the rate on strawberries from June 1 to July 30 not less than three cents a pound. The dumping duty will be in addition to these rates.

Tops were broken off doors, drawers were pulled out and upholstering pieces of furniture were torn to shreds and fragments of furniture blocked the entrances from the balconies after the air cleared over the Communist sector, where most of the damage was done.

Twenty-four persons were forced out of the hall during the battle at the conclusion of which numerous deputies on each side were lying on the floor, bleeding profusely.

Three Communist deputies, Kraemer, Kuntz, Anigchikie, were seriously hurt.

West More Hopeful

Facing Present Summer With Greater Optimism

Winnipeg, Man.—Farmers of western Canada are facing the present summer with greater cheer and optimism with more favorable conditions now favorable than, for several years.

This year's observation was the best since 1933, and the weather has been favorable for grain production over last year. Grain shows good germination and even though all three prairie provinces:

"This year's crop probably is the best since 1933, and the weather has been favorable for grain production, but he must cut his expenses to the bone to make profits. He has replaced much of his expensive machinery with horses and has worked harder himself."

"The western farmer has the right spirit," Mr. Hall thought. "He is no fool optimist, and he takes nothing for granted. However, he has the resilience to recover quickly from hard times, and the determination to hold his hand to the plow. He may be broke, but he's the backbone of the country."

Next Session Of Parliament

No Decision Has Yet Been Reached In Respect To Date, Says Premier

Ottawa, Ont.—No decision has yet been reached in respect to calling the fall session of parliament. Premier R. B. Bennett stated in the House of Commons in answer to a question by Rt. Hon. MacKenzie King, Opposition leader, that the fall session of the Economic Conference had taken place. It was difficult to reach a decision, he said. He would endeavour to announce the opening date of the next session as long as possible before parliament would meet, in order to give members ample notice.

Ocean Rates Increased

Montreal, Que.—Ocean rates for trans-Atlantic liners are now effective. The third class rates are increased 10 per cent, and the tourist by five per cent. An exception is made in the case of third class travel in the westward direction, this price remaining practically unchanged.

Lengthy Search Ended

New York, N. Y.—John T. Coulter, Duxbury, former Beer ring man, wanted by British authorities for the sinking of a British ship by explosion off the Brazil coast during the war, has been re-arrested. He escaped in 1918. The charge against him is murder.

WANTED—A THRONE!

Known as the most persistent king-baiter in the world, he is the son of King Fu-Pusha, former Khaisiv of Egypt, has indicated from his exile near Paris, France, that he is willing to talk to any king on the kingling line. He is 36 years old and has been his son until Great Britain deposed him in 1914. He is negotiating to become ruler of Syria when the French government releases its mandate.

Woman Aviator Honored

Mrs. Putnam Receives Congratulations From Prime Minister

Victoria, B. C.—British Columbia ministers of agriculture and fisheries presented a bill to authorize President Hoover to award the distinguished flying cross to Amelia Earhart Putnam, for her trans-Atlantic solo flight.

London, England.—The King and Queen received a telegram of congratulation to Mrs. Amelia Earhart Putnam on her trans-Atlantic flight from Harver Grace, Md., to Ireland.

Mrs. Earhart said the real reason she crossed the Atlantic alone was to show the men she could do things as well as they.

B.C. Vegetables

Expect Sales To The Prairies Will Be Doubled This Year

Victoria, B. C.—British Columbia sales of vegetables to the prairies will be doubled this year, it was anticipated in address to the Department of Agriculture here.

At Armstrong, four packing houses have installed the most modern machinery to pack and ship vegetables, giving their vegetables for Prairie shipment. All cars will be government-inspected, and an all-round general improvement in production, packing and shipping facilities as well as sales organization is noted.

Radio Commission

Chairman To Receive Salary Of $10,000 Per Year

Ottawa, Ont.—The chairman of the Canadian radio broadcasting commission will receive a salary of $10,000 per year, and two vice-chairmen $8,000 each according to the provisions of the act respecting radio broadcasting which passed final stages in the House of Commons. The bill, based on the report of a special committee, will receive the royal assent early for the nationalization of radio broadcasting in Canada which will be operated under a system of public ownership.

FARM MARKETING PROBLEMS TO BE INVESTIGATED

Ottawa, Ont.—Agricultural marketing problems will be investigated by a federal commission. This announcement was made in the House of Commons by Hon. Robert Weir, a few moments before the collapse of an attack bill he introduced in the House. Miss Agnes MacPhail, against the agrarian record of the government.

"Practically ideal conditions prevail in the northern parts of Alberta and Saskatchewan," Mr. Hall stated. "Present indications are that the present year will be the best ever for grain production over last year. Grain shows good germination and even though all three prairie provinces:

"This year's crop probably is the best since 1933, and the weather has been favorable for grain production, but he must cut his expenses to the bone to make profits. He has replaced much of his expensive machinery with horses and has worked harder himself."

"The western farmer has the right spirit," Mr. Hall thought. "He is no fool optimist, and he takes nothing for granted. However, he has the resilience to recover quickly from hard times, and the determination to hold his hand to the plow. He may be broke, but he's the backbone of the country."

As a result of the radio question to be considered by the commission will be spread and the creation of an export marketing board, said the agricultural minister. In view of the approaching Imperial Economic Conference, the government felt the majority of countries among other Empire countries before setting up a marketing board with its attendant bonusing system.

DOMINIONS' SECRETARY ATTENDS OLYMPIC TRIALS

Trade Restrictions

All Countries Should Unite In Resistance To Undue Isolation

Vancouver, B. C.—A proposal of all countries should unite in resistance to undue isolation and the restriction of international trade, James A. Farrell, former president of United States Steel Corporation and now a member of its directorate, has addressed a letter to the Vancouver Board of Trade. He has just returned from the Orient.

"By resisting further national movements tending toward isolation, the world will not be jeopardized and the standard of living which we have learned to enjoy will not be destroyed," he said.

"Canada and the United States must look across the Pacific," he declared.

"Across, around and through this area there flow already vast currents of international trade, to the Antipodes, the Orient and the Indies. Progress in the means of transportation has greatly reduced the time and distance between the people of this area; at the same time it has fostered and expanded their acquaintance with one another. Each has gained in the knowledge of the products of each other and consumer demand has resulted."

"This demand is now temporarily suppressed by causes beyond the power of the producer and consumer—causes in the field of politics. Commerce is not so much suffering from over-production as it is from under-consumption."

"With world trade free of unnecessary restrictions, there would be an increase in the industrial nations of the world, and the resulting power of consumption is sufficient to blot out the present anomaly of over-production. The market for a number of goods while the other half is subject to extreme deprivation. This is indeed a heavy price to pay for nationalistic desire for self-government."

"It is high to be derided," he continued, "when viewing the current cessation of trade, that the Pacific area is perhaps the most rapidly developing market in the world. During the last two years, the past two years, the interchange of goods between the countries bordering on the Pacific has continued to increase in volume, even though declining in value. All other trade areas have declined in both volume and value."

To Aid Agriculture

Preference For Western Agricultural Products Is Necessary

Calgary, Alberta—Necessity for preference given to western agricultural products by the government was emphasized at the request of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce, and will be forwarded to the chamber executive and Premier J. Brownlee of Alberta.

Through all the meetings at the conference, the Calgary board insisted that the welfare of Canadian agriculture should be the uppermost thought. As exports to be considered, the memorandum suggested wheat and other grains, livestock and similar farm products.

"What a demonstration was a success," he said. "The children appeared in a happy mood when they were taken from their parents, but no trouble. Early in the day the fathers and mothers came to the station and the children would be removed, and many tears were shed. Families will, the parents feeling keenly the departure of their youngsters.

No SEVERANCE WITH THE EMPIRE SAYS DE VALERA

Party of British Business Men Will Study Conditions At Coast

Vancouver, B. C.—Interest in the recent and important visit of the British Columbia delegation to the British Isles was manifested by a large number of business men, and particularly by the members of the British Columbia Chamber of Commerce. The delegation was headed by Sir Edward MacKenzie, attorney-general of the British Columbia Government.

Mr. De Valera, pleading that the same bill be given the full consideration of the House, declared his purpose was to prevent the Anglo-Irish treaty of 1921 from being a fundamental domestic law, and to put it in its proper place as an international instrument.

From a vehement beginning in which he told the Upper House only a threat of war with Great Britain induced the State people to accept the terms of the treaty, he gradually got down to an earnest and detailed exposition of what the bill was intended to bring about.

Not a single speech was uttered as he endeavored to defend the measure which has already been subject to verbal attacks by senators whose political attitude are more conservative than those of the Republican administration.

BRACKEN TAKES THREE LIBERALS INTO CABINET

Winnipeg, Man.—Three Liberals are to be taken into his government's pre-election cabinet, Premier John Bracken announced. The new ministers will be E. A. McPherson, J. S. McDermid and Dr. Murdoch MacKay.

Mr. McPherson, former member of parliament for Portage la Prairie, will enter the Liberal-Progressive platform as a provincial treasurer, taking over that position from Hon. W. J. Bracken.

Former member of parliament for Winnipeg South Centre, Mr. McDermid will become minister of natural resources and industry, and Dr. MacKay, leader of the Liberal Party in Manitoba, will be minister without portfolio.

In making room for the three Liberals, Premier Bracken had his cabinet without releasing a single minister. Hon. Albert Prestfontaine remains as minister of agriculture, and remains in the government as minister without portfolio and Hon. D. G. McKenzie, minister of mines and natural resources, is transferred from that department to the one vacated by Mr. Prestfontaine.

Announcement of the cabinet organization was made following Mr. Bracken's key-note election speech here. In his address he stoutly defended the record of his government under assault when Lieut.-Col. F. G. Taylor, Conservative Leader, opened his campaign.

The "economy" platform of the Conservative, the premier said, was not done in Manitoba more than it was done under Liberal-Progressive rule-making.

"Half the planks promise greater expenditures," he said of the Conservative platform. "Where the money goes is not so important as how it is spent." The economy platform proposed to be formed is a secret one, likely to those spending tax-free and tax-less experts in the Conservative Party."

Taken From Parents

One Hundred and Forty-One Deaf-Blind Children To Be Placed In Homes

Nelson, B. C.—One hundred and forty-one deaf-blind children of all ages were sent to the coast to be placed in various homes in Vancouver and Victoria while their parents are serving their prison sentences or participating in community organizations at Tzumma recently. One hundred and six were taken from the jail here, and en route 35 more were picked up at Boundary Falls. These latter are children of deaf-blind deaf-mutes who demonstrated in the nude at the Grand Forks a few weeks ago.

Wards of the government, the children appear in a happy mood when they are taken from their parents, but no trouble. Early in the day the fathers and mothers come to the station and the children would be removed, and many tears were shed. Families will, the parents feeling keenly the departure of their youngsters.

To Visit British Columbia

Party of British Business Men Will Study Conditions At Coast

Sydney, New South Wales.—Under-deterred by his dismissal from office about two weeks ago by executive authority of Governor-General Sir Philip Game, former Premier T. Lang will seek re-election to the New South Wales House of Assembly in the general elections which take place June 1.

Along with 301 other candidates, Mr. Lang was nominated for one of the legislature's 87 seats.

Mr. Lang is contesting the constituency of Auburn, which he has represented in the house for 12 years.
